{tab=FIY} More About Him: I’m from a big (extended) family.

- My Dad (Erick) is deceased.

- My mom (Mami Da as she's fondly called) lives in Japan.

I am a member of the Beta Epsilon Fraternity, College of Engineering in UP, batch 95C. My first job was at cubepoint as a web developer. It's belgian owned. In 2004, me and my friends set up our own business, Infinite Intelligence. It's a review center for engineering board exams and also tutorials. then it ventured to surveying. Came to UK in July 2004 to be with my bebe. I am now working at Stanley Gibbons UK as senior web developer. Like my bebe, i also love to travel. I enjoy so much our trips together kahit malapit lang. I learned to drive here. Recently purchased our own house. I am Diabetic. When talking on the phone, people would mistake me for a girl! I have a husky voice =p I love playing RPG on my ps2 or any computer games for that matter. I love adventure trips. I am outgoing and can get along well with most people.

I am into techie stuff and gadgets. Because of my Diabetes, i inject insulin 4 times a day. I want to have my own business ASAP so CheChe won't have to work anymore. I love to eat but can't bec. I have to watch my diet. I used to have a dog named, grego. I love reading books.

I’m not a good cook. I don't cook. Only if 'forced' =p. I am very thrifty. Syempre, not to forget, I love CheChe very much!
